THE SPIRIT BARES ITS TEETH

ANDREW JOSEPH WHITE

- This sophomore hit was an instant New York Times and indie bestseller and received stellar reviews from Kirkus, Publishers Weekly, Booklist, and many more presses
- This book was a Book of the Year for Kirkus Reviews (Best Young Adult), Shelf Awareness, and School Library Journal
- The Spirit Bares Its Teeth is a horror book like no other, brimming with ghosts, gruesome surgeries, and the horrors of patriarchy in a Victorian-era sanatorium
- Silas Bell is an incredible, unforgettable protagonist whose determination to survive and live as his authentic self will resonate with any reader who picks up this book
- Underneath the harrowing horror of The Spirit Bares Its Teeth is a sweet romance between a young trans boy and trans girl that readers are bound to fall in love with

Age range: 14+

Mors vincit omnia. Death conquers all. London, 1883.

The Veil between the living and dead has thinned. Violet-eyed mediums commune with spirits under the watchful eye of the Royal Speaker Society, and sixteen-year-old Silas Bell would rather rip out his violet eyes than become an obedient Speaker wife.

According to Mother, he'll be married by the end of the year. It doesn't matter that he's needed a decade of tutors to hide his autism; that he practices surgery on slaughtered pigs; that he is a boy, not the girl the world insists on seeing.

After a failed attempt to escape an arranged marriage, Silas is diagnosed with Veil sickness a mysterious disease sending violet-eyed women into madness-and shipped away to Braxton's Sanitorium and Finishing School. The facility is cold, the instructors merciless, and the students either bloom into eligible wives or disappear.

So when the ghosts of missing students start begging Silas for help, he decides to reach into Braxton's innards and expose its rotten guts to the world-as long as the school doesn't break him first.

A WOOLLY TALE

JACKIE HOSKING, ILLUSTRATED BY PAUL LALO

- Children's book author Jackie Hosking follows the adventures of Chris, the world's woolliest sheep
- Striking illustrations by Paul Lalo of Soymilk Studio featuring a distinctive 3D collage style
- Inspired by the true story of a merino ram who was lost for five years in the bush near Canberra and set the record for the world's heaviest fleece, which is now on display at the National Museum of Australia
- The third book in a series that builds on the innovation of the Discovery Centre at the National Museum of Australia, encouraging conversations around place, identity and Australian stories in a dynamic and exciting way
- Other titles in the series include The Bunyip and the Stars by Adam Duncan, part First Nations creation story and part adventure tale, and How Mother Kangaroo Got her Pouch, a traditional Aboriginal story about the rewards of kindness by Rebecca Beetson

Age range 0 to 6

Chris the merino sheep, nervous about his first shearing, escapes into the bush. At first Chris enjoys his new life among the gum trees, but as the years go by, his fleece grows heavier and heavier. Chris's journey into the unknown takes a turn when he encounters a wiry dingo.

About the author:

E. N. Hews is a first-time author/illustrator of the story picture book Where is Everyone? Retired since 2019, he resides in New South Wales, Australia and enjoys painting, drawing, listening to music, visiting his grandchildren in country NSW, and reading storybooks to them. His fondest reading memory is from when he was six years old and learning the word 'inquisitive' while reading about a possum. So, as a tribute to that author, he has intentionally incorporated both into this storybook.

GISELLE GIRAFFE

RICHARD TURNER, ILLUSTRATED BY BEN CLIFFORD

- A positive story about self-acceptance and loving yourself the way you are
- Rhythm, rhyme, and a drop of humour makes this story a great read-aloud experience
- Hilarious illustrations bring out the fun in Giselle's fashion mishaps

Age range 5+

Giselle doesn't like her height. Though covering it up with clothes doesn't work, a helpful sight might

Unhappy with her height, Giselle the Giraffe decides to change her style to hide her major flaw. But the hats don't work, the rings are too small, and the scarves nowhere NEAR long enough. And don't even ask her about the bikini!

Dejected, Giselle slinks off home to hide herself away but a chance encounter leaves her seeing her height from a new perspective.

Funny dress-up illustrations make Giselle's self-esteem mishaps a lesson readers will laugh while learning.

Tarrantia (Adelaide)

About the author & illustrator:

Richard Turner is an author and Performing Arts teacher in Adelaide, South Australia, who supports children's creative voices through drama and dance. He has directed and choreographed musicals, working with students who can sing and dance way better than he can. Like most people, Richard has to be told to eat his peas, but never has to be told to eat his jellybeans or ice cream. He has been on a skateboard, a rollercoaster, an elephant and a camel. He has also been on a spaceship to the moon, but only in his dreams!

Ben Clifford was born and raised in Tasmania, Australia. He began illustrating after living in a nice place with the cuckoos and sparrows in England. After returning home he began drawing, painting, illustrating and writing books. Ben was first published in 2017 with many titles to follow. When he's not drawing or writing stories, he likes to help others if they're sad or happy, scaly, fluffy, furry or feathery.

GREEDY GLEN

MATT DAVIS, ILLUSTRATED BY MATTEO GAGGIA

- Jaunty rhyming verse creates a pleasurable language experience for both read-alouds and independent reading
- A hilarious story about overcoming greed and selfishness and the pleasure in sharing with friends
- Bold, colourful illustrations, filled with vivid humour, that will delight and engage young readers with their depiction of the characters and setting within the story

Age range 5+

When greedy gull Glen finds an ice cream, he does not want to share with his friends but soon finds sharing is better.

Glen is a gull with just one thing in mind: to take all the food and the drinks he can find. And Greedy Glen has no interest in sharing with his friends. But by the time Glen finishes fending off his friends, the ice cream has melted. In this hilarious rhyming story about overcoming greed and selfishness, children will learn the joy of sharing with others and take delight in the strikingly bold and witty illustrations.

THE MESS THAT WE MADE

MICHELLE LORD, ILLUSTRATED BY JULIA BLATTMAN

- Now in paperback!
- Young readers and listeners will learn how plastic and trash affect marine animals, and will be inspired to make a difference and care for the environment

Age range 5 to 7

The Mess That We Made explores the environmental impact of trash and plastic on the ocean and marine life, and it inspires kids to do their part to combat pollution.

Simple, rhythmic wording builds to a crescendo ('This is the mess that we made. These are the fish that swim in the mess that we made.') and the vibrant digital artwork captures the disaster that is the Great Pacific Garbage Patch.

Children can imagine themselves as one of the four multi-ethnic occupants of the little boat surrounded by swirling plastic in the middle of the ocean, witnessing the cycle of destruction and the harm it causes to plants, animals, and humans.

The first half of the book portrays the growing magnitude of the issue, and the second half rallies children and adults to make the necessary changes to save our oceans, before it is too late. Facts about the Great Pacific Garbage Patch, ocean pollution, and how kids can help are included in the back matter.

Age range 4 to 8

A remarkable story about a brother and sister's determination to attend school and their inventive solution to get there safely.

Features an afterword from Julian Lennon, and notes from co-authors Aaron Friedland and Ndileka Mandela.

Every morning, Shaka and his little sister Nandi walk with their father to school. Though the journey is long and hot, they arrive at school happy to see their friends and ready to learn. Then one day, their father gives them terrible news: he has to go work in a mine far away, and they won't be able to go to school anymore.

After Romilly's mother's death of a strange fever years ago, neighbours and family fled her village. Bereft, her father becomes increasingly withdrawn, revealing little of their family history that Romilly longs to understand.

When her beloved uncle mysteriously disappears from his boat on a cloudless night at sea, she senses her father's growing terror a terror she shares when she spies an enormous Being opening a sail-shaped flap of sky over their wheatfield. Romilly suspects these inexplicable events are connected, but how?

With the help of unlikely allies the healer Arra, Robbie the boisterous crow, and the kestrel Mira Romilly must convince her father to dismantle the wall to his greatest secret, and that of the Being that exists in the world beyond.

When engineers are faced with an impossible problem, they don't quit. They look for solutions.

These 15 women are coders and engineers who have faced impossible problems and found solutions. They are each doing amazing work in technical fields while facing unique challenges that are not equally faced by men.

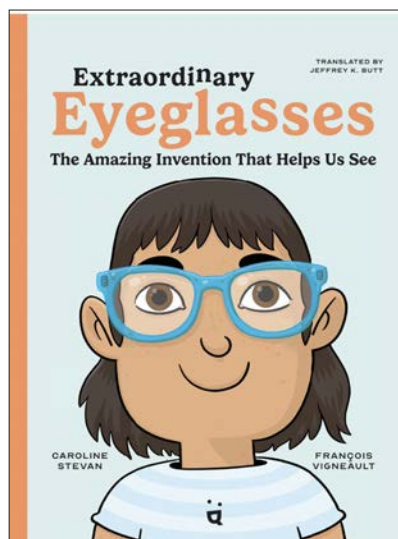

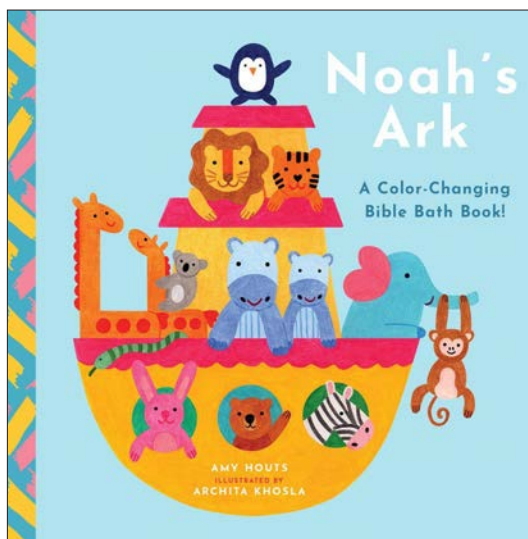

Some have faced work/life balance offsets and long-distance relationship challenges. Others have faced teen pregnancy, homelessness, and domestic abuse. Many may have not had the same technical encouragement growing up that their male colleagues had. Science has typically been considered a man's field of study. There are all sorts of reasons why this is the case, though none of them is valid in today's society.

TEA AND SUGAR CHRISTMAS

JANE JOLLY, ILLUSTRATED BY ROBERT INGPEN

- Recognised by CBCA, ABIA and MAPDA awards

The Tea and Sugar train only came once a week on a Thursday. But the special Christmas train only came once a year.

Today was Sunday.

Four more days without sugar.

Four more days until the Christmas train. Please, please be on time. Please don't be late.

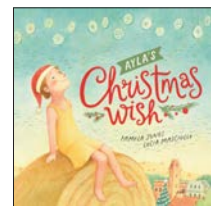

For 81 years, from 1915 to 1996, the Tea and Sugar Train travelled from Port Augusta to Kalgoorlie once a week. It serviced the settlements along the Nullarbor Plain, a 1050-long rail link. It was a lifeline. There were no shops or services in these settlements.
