

CRITICAL RACIAL AND DECOLONIAL LITERACIES

Breaking the Silence

EDITED BY DEBBIE BARGALLIE, NILMINI FERNANDO

Critical Radical and Decolonial Legacies* reframes what anti-racism education looks like, where it is done, and what its decolonial aims are or can be.

This collection offers a unique exploration of critical racial literacy and anti-racist praxis in Australia’s educational landscape. Combining critical race and Indigenous theories and perspectives, contributors articulate a decolonial liberatory imperative for our times. In an age when ‘decolonisation’ has become a buzzword, the book demystifies ‘critical anti-racism praxis,’ advocating for critical and multidisciplinary approaches.

Educators from a range of disciplines including Law, Indigenous Studies, Health, Sociology, Policy and the Arts collectively share compelling stories of educating on race, racism and anti-racism, offering strategies that can be put into practice in classrooms, activism and structural reforms.

Features vignettes and conversations from indigenous and non-indigenous educators across Law, Indigenous Studies, Sociology, Policy and the Arts.

POETRY OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA AND THE UNITED STATES, 1960S-1980S

AMEER CHASIB FURAIH

Shows how poets like Noonuccal, Fogarty, Baraka and Sanchez collaborated with other civil rights activists in voicing the demands of their people, and how they used their poetry to reflect the realities they experienced and to imagine new possibilities.

Aboriginal poets Oodgeroo Noonuccal (formerly Kath Walker; 1920-1993) and Lionel Fogarty (1958-), and African American poets Amiri Baraka (formerly LeRoi Jones; 1934-2014) and Sonia Sanchez (1934-) were prominent in the struggles of their peoples during the civil rights movements of the 1960s and beyond. I have treated the poetries of these poets as an example of distinct poetics, which is not bounded by the borders of a territory or by geography as abstracted on a map, situating them along the lines of what Chadwick Allen (2012) calls ‘together (yet) distinct’. This literary-political relation enables the poetries of these geo-ethnically distinct poets to be read within a single critical frame, without conflating their literary distinctiveness.

The book places the poetries of these four selected poets in broader, international contexts by drawing trans-Pacific connections among them.

INSTEAD OF MODERNITY

The Western canon and the incorporation of the Hispanic (c. 1850-75)

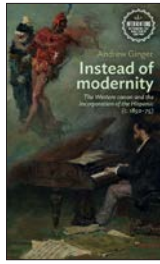

ANDREW GINGER

For decades, intellectuals from Benjamin to Bourdieu, Berman to Foucault, have been in thrall to this vision of the mid-nineteenth century.

It shaped and underpinned their most influential thoughts, its legacy insinuated into institutionalised theories of culture.

Instead of modernity goes to the very heart of comparative cultural study: the question of what happens when intimate, dynamic connections are made over place and time, what it is to feel at home amid the lavish diversity of culture. This ambitious interdisciplinary book reconsiders foundational figures of the modern western canon, from Darwin to Cameron, Baudelaire to Whistler.

ELISABETH VON KROGH

Retrospective/Prospective:

Ceramics 1972-2024

EDITED BY KJERSTI SOLBAKKEN, IDA BRINGEDAL, HAUGAR ART MUSEUM

The first comprehensive monograph on Elisabeth von Krogh. A retrospective of the last 50 years that opens up to the prospective of playful utopian spaces.

Elisabeth von Krogh (b. 1947) has been a prominent figure in the field of ceramics in Norway for several decades. Her works have been acquired by numerous Norwegian collections, and her artistic oeuvre is well known even beyond the art world. Describing von Krogh's works without resorting to what are often deemed clichés is challenging. How does one articulate that something is simultaneously playful and colourful yet serious and complex?

Shaping Time / Donner forme au temps

ANDREW BREWERTON, MIKAËL FAUJOUR, MICHEL GUÉRIN, JOHN EDGAR WIDEMAN

Antoine Leperlier developed his own glass technique and creates translucent and painterly blocks. His endeavour to capture dynamic images in material form is an approach unique in contemporary glass art.

Antoine Leperlier (b. 1953) is a trained visual artist and painter. He has been working as a freelance glass artist since the 1980s, developing his own glass technique based on casting and the lost-wax technique to create large-format translucent and painterly blocks. In this survey of work spanning more than 40 years, skulls float, snakes are frozen alive, and what looks like abstract watercolours are preserved forever.

Contemporary Art by the San People from South Africa.

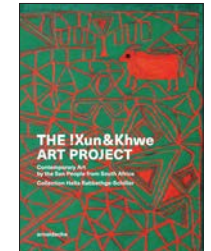

Collection Hella Rabbethge-Schiller

TOMSEN NORE, DAVID MORRIS, CAROL KAUFMANN, BETTINA RUHRBERG, HELLA RABBETHGE-SCHILLER

A unique art project established 1993 in a refugee camp in South Africa.

The !Xun & Khwe Art Project was developed in 1993 in a refugee camp in Schmidtsdrift, South Africa. After being party to the struggles for liberation from colonial rule, endangered groups of San people from Namibia and Angola were relocated there. They eventually found their final home in the self-governing South African community of Platfontein. The art of the !Xun and Khwe came about during the short period of transition from a traditional way of life to a modern, globalised society. This is what makes their art unique.

THE MACHINIC CITY

Media, performance and participation

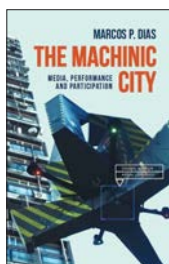

MARCOS P. DIAS

As human and machine agency become increasingly intermingled and digital media is overlaid onto the urban landscape, The machinic city argues that performance art can help us to understand contemporary urban living.

Dias analyses interventions from performance artists such as Blast Theory, Rafael Lozano-Hemmer and Rimini Protokoll, which draw from a rich history of avant-garde art movements to create spaces for deliberation and reflection on urban life, and speculation on its future.

While cities are increasingly controlled by autonomous processes mediated by technical machines, Dias analyses the performative potential of the aesthetic machine.

ELISABETH HOLDER

From Jewellery to Contextual Art / Vom Schmuck zur Kontextuellen Kunst

ELLEN MAURER ZILIOLO, ELISABETH HOLDER

From Jewellery to Contextual Art presents the work of the artist and professor Elisabeth Holder and showcases her unique evolution.

Coming from a classical goldsmithing background, she placed jewellery in relation to ancient signs and the ornamentation that emerged from them, pursuing the examination of materials in the charged arena between mastery and dialogue, and posing the fundamental question of what jewellery is and can be. This led to a paradigm shift. Jewellery was recontextualised. Illustrated with examples from fields such as architecture and nature, it becomes clear that such jewellery forms are never excessive and are at once contextual art. Text in English and German.

DEIRDRE MADDEN

New critical perspectives
 EDITED BY ANNE FOGARTY,
 MARISOL MORALES-LADRÓN

The Irish writer, Deirdre Madden, has written key novels about the Northern Irish Troubles and about contemporary Ireland.

Memory, trauma, and the abiding but elusive links between the past and the present are central concerns of her fiction. This pioneering set of essays by leading experts in Irish Studies explores the many dimensions of her novels from a wide variety of perspectives. Madden's skill at interweaving novels of ideas with artist novels that draw out the complex inner predicaments of her characters is highlighted. States of dislocation are concentrated on in her texts, but also the quest for a home in the world and a lasting set of values that allows for personal integrity and authenticity. These multifaceted explorations bear out the compelling and enduring aspects of Madden's highly regarded novels.

REREADING CHAUCER AND SPENSER

Dan Geffrey with the New Poete
 EDITED BY RACHEL STENNER,
 TAMSIN BADCOE, GARETH GRIFFITH

Rereading Chaucer and Spenser is a much-needed volume that brings together established and early career scholars to provide new critical approaches to the relationship between Geoffrey Chaucer and Edmund Spenser.

By reading one of the greatest poets of the Middle Ages alongside one of the greatest poets of the English Renaissance, this collection poses questions about poetic authority, influence, and the nature of intertextual relations in a more wide-ranging manner than ever before. With its dual focus on authors from periods often conceived as radically separate, the collection also responds to current interests in periodisation.

NABOKOV'S SECRET TREES

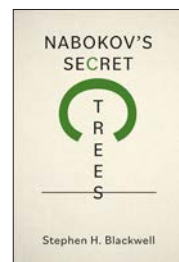

STEPHEN H. BLACKWELL

This book explores how Vladimir Nabokov wove his deep love of trees throughout all his works, granting them a powerful role in the development of his most significant themes.

In nearly all his literary works, Vladimir Nabokov inscribed networks of trees to create meaningful patterns of significance around one or more of his passionate interests – in consciousness, memory, creativity, epistemology, ethics, and love, with a deep connection to nature serving as a constant undercurrent. Nabokov's Secret Trees explores this neglected area of his art, one that positions nature as a hidden but vital core of his work.

The book presents an entirely new, previously unsuspected Nabokov, one who crafts intricate patterns of arboreal imagery lurking behind his often-baroque psychological narratives.

THE NORTHERN IRELAND PEACE PROCESS

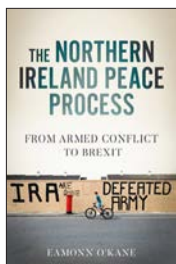

From armed conflict to Brexit
EAMONN O’KANE

This book offers a re-evaluation of the emergence, development and outcome of the peace process in Northern Ireland.

Drawing on interviews with many of the key participants of the peace process, newly released archival material and the existing scholarship on the conflict, it explains the decisions that shaped the peace process in their proper context.

O’Kane argues that although the outcome of the process can be seen as a success, it is not the outcome that was originally expected or intended by most of its participants. By tracing the process and highlighting the pragmatic decisions of the parties that shaped it the work explains how Northern Ireland moved from conflict to peace.

Non-Normative Fathers and Mothers in Spanish Narrative and Film

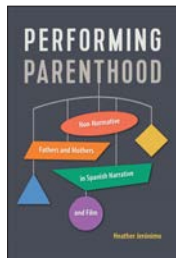

HEATHER JERÓNIMO

Drawing on examples from literature and film, Performing Parenthood explores the multiplicity within non-normative familial constructions in Spain.

Performing Parenthood reveals different enactments of motherhood and fatherhood in twentieth- and twenty-first-century Spain, showing how the family has adapted, or at times failed to do so, within the context of Spain’s changing socioeconomic reality.

Through an examination of examples of non-normative parenthood in contemporary Spanish literature and film, the book argues that current conceptualisations of parenthood should be amplified to reflect the various existing identities and performances of parenthood.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY AND CIVIL SOCIETY IN INDIA
 NANDINI DEO

Explores how the partnerships between big businesses and civil society organisations are influencing the development and rights landscape in India.

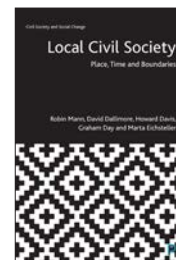

Non-governmental organisations (NGOs) and corporations have a history of hostility to each other. According to NGO workers, businesses selfishly exploit workers, despoil natural resources, and distort democracy to serve their own profit-making ends. According to business executives, NGOs are hopelessly naïve, inefficient, and interfere in the market in ways that reduce economic growth. And yet, in the past decade more and more NGOs and businesses are collaborating in new ways. Individuals from both sectors are setting up social impact enterprises and social investing funds are increasing. Why is this happening and what are its consequences?

LOCAL CIVIL SOCIETY
 Place, Time and Boundaries

ROBIN MANN, DAVID DALLIMORE, HOWARD DAVIS, GRAHAM DAY, MARTA EICHSTELLER

Drawing on place-based field investigations and new empirical analysis, this original book investigates civil society at local level.

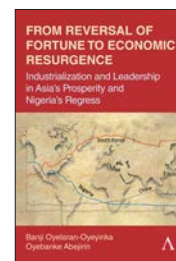

The concept of civil society is contested and multifaceted, and this text offers assessment and clarification of debates concerning the intertwining of civil society, the state and local community relations. Analysing two Welsh villages, the authors examine the importance of identity, connection with place and the impact of social and spatial boundaries on the everyday production of civil society.

Bringing into focus questions of biography and temporality, the book provides an innovative account of continuities and changes within local civil society during social and economic transformation.

EDITED BY JOANNE LAYCOCK, FRANCESCA PIANA

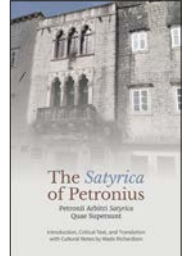

Interventions on behalf of Armenia and Armenians have come to be identified by scholars and practitioners alike as defining moments in the history of humanitarianism. This book reassesses these claims, critically examining a range of interventions by governments, international and diasporic organisations, and individuals that aimed to ‘save Armenians’.

Drawing on multidisciplinary perspectives, it traces the evolution of these interventions from the late-nineteenth century to the present day, paying particular attention to the aftermaths of the genocide and the upheavals of the post-Soviet period.

THE NORTH AMERICAN AUTO INDUSTRY SINCE NAFTA

EDITED BY GREIG MORDUE,
DIMITRY ANASTAKIS

This book explores key issues affecting the post-NAFTA development and trajectory of North America’s automotive industry.

The auto sector is North America’s most iconic of industries. Since the North American Free Trade Agreement came into existence in 1994, the sector has undergone tremendous change: escalating concerns around climate change, advances in electric and automated vehicles, deindustrialisation/reindustrialisation, and the rise of low-cost locations as hubs for manufacturing.

The North American Auto Industry since NAFTA examines the issues that have preoccupied the development of policy associated with the manufacture of automobiles in North America.

THE EMPIRE OF CLIMATE

A History of an Idea

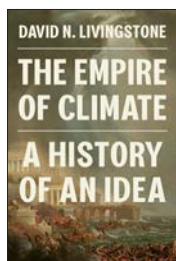

DAVID N. LIVINGSTONE

How the spectre of climate has been used to explain history since antiquity.

Scientists, journalists and politicians increasingly tell us that human impacts on climate constitute the single greatest threat facing our planet and may even bring about the extinction of our species. Yet behind these anxieties lies an older, much deeper fear about the power that climate exerts over us. The Empire of Climate traces the history of this idea and its pervasive influence over how we interpret world events and make sense of the human condition, from the rise and fall of ancient civilisations to the afflictions of the modern psyche.

A panoramic work of scholarship, The Empire of Climate maps the tangled histories of an idea that has haunted our collective imagination for centuries.

CONFRONTING THE IRISH PAST

The 1912-1924 Decade in Light of the 1998 Good Friday Agreement

EDITED BY SÉAMUS MURPHY

Confronting the Irish Past contributes to building a culture of peace and tolerance that comes to terms with the dark side of Irish history.

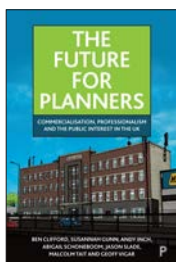

The 1998 Belfast (Good Friday) Agreement established power-sharing arrangements between the two divided communities in Northern Ireland. The Agreement is not set in stone but is rather a hopeful yet uncertain project. Making it put down deep cultural roots requires some confrontation with and transformation of the history, and the socially constructed memories, of Ireland's decisive decade 1912-1923, which was violent and divisive.

Spatial planning is at a crossroads, with government reform undermining the traditional vision of state-employed planners making decisions about urban development in a unified public interest.

Nearly half of UK planners are now employed in the private sector, with complex inter-relations between the sectors including supplying outsourced services to local authorities struggling with centrally-imposed budget cuts.

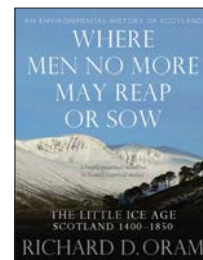

Drawing on new empirical data from a major research project, 'Working in the Public Interest', this book reveals what it's like to be a UK planner in the early 21st century, and how the profession can fulfil its potential for the benefit of society and the environment.

RICHARD D. ORAM

Drawing together the evidence of archaeology, palaeoecology, climate history and the historical record, this first environmental history of Scotland explores the interaction of human populations with the land, waters, forests and wildlife.

This volume spans 450 years that saw profound transformation in Scotland's environment. It begins in the fifteenth century, when the 'Golden Age' of the early 1200s was but a fading folk memory in a land gripped by the gathering grimness of a 'little ice age'. Colder, wetter, stormier weather became the new normal, interspersed with brief episodes of warmer but still moist conditions, all of which brought huge challenges to a society on the knife-edge of subsistence.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND THE FUTURE OF WARFARE

The USA, China, and strategic stability

JAMES JOHNSON

This volume offers an innovative and counter-intuitive study of how and why AI-infused weapon systems will affect the strategic stability between nuclear-armed states.

Johnson demystifies the hype surrounding AI in the context of nuclear weapons and, more broadly, future warfare. The book highlights the potential, multifaceted intersections of this and other disruptive technology – robotics and autonomy, cyber, drone swarming, big data analytics, and quantum communications – with nuclear stability.

The book sketches a clear picture of the potential impact of AI on the digitised battlefield and broadens our understanding of critical questions for international affairs.

URBAN LANDSCAPE PRIORITIES, OPPORTUNITIES AND PROSPECT

PHILIP N. PREGILL

Current priorities and strategies for producing sustainable urban landscapes in street hierarchies, connections and places.

The future of urban cities and towns will be influenced by the ability of communities to develop meaningful planning and design strategies founded on the interplay of viable priorities and opportunities. Numerous priorities have been articulated by communities, including specific outcomes that address the broader vision for livable urban contexts. All are envisioned as opportunities for effective planning and design outcomes within urban landscape contexts. Urban Landscape Priorities, Opportunities and Prospect presents current priorities and strategies for producing sustainable urban landscapes in street

SEX WORK IN POPULAR CULTURE

LAUREN KIRSHNER

This book examines movies, TV shows, and documentaries to reveal how sex work connects to women’s experiences of gender, power, and labour.

Sex Work in Popular Culture delves into provocative movies, TV shows, and documentaries about sex work produced in the last fifteen years – a period of debate and change around the meaning of sex work in North American society. From Oscar-winning films to viral YouTube videos, and from indie documentaries to hit series – many of which are made by women – the book reveals how sex work is being recognised as real work and an issue of human rights. Lauren Kirshner shares how popular culture has responded by producing the dynamic new figure of a sex worker who challenges tropes and promotes understanding of the key issues shaping sex work.
