SOUTHWESTERN PACIFIC

Becoming Enemy Friends

DAVID OAKESHOTT

Bringing concepts from critical transitional justice and peacebuilding into dialogue with education, this book examines the challenges youth and their teachers face in the post-conflict settings of Bougainville and Solomon Islands.

The youth in these areas are confronted with reconciling with the violent past of their parents' generation while also learning how to live with members of opposing 'sides'. This book traces how students and their teachers form connections to the past and each other that cut through the forces that might divide them. The findings illustrate the vital importance of education in post-conflict recovery.

FEMINIST FOREIGN POLICY ANALYSIS

A New Subfield

EDITED BY KARIN AGGESTAM, JACQUI TRUE

How can feminist scholarship advance the field of foreign policy analysis to better understand contemporary foreign policy actions and challenges?

This book provides the latest state-of-the-art in the study of gender, feminisms and foreign policy. Bringing together contributors from Europe, North America and Australia, chapters offer new analyses of different foreign policy domains including trade, defence, environment, peacebuilding and international development assistance.

By exploring how varied and contested gender and feminist approaches and strategies are across these domains, the book advances new theory, novel concepts and empirical knowledge for the emerging scholarly field of gender and foreign policy analysis.

QUEERING SCIENCE COMMUNICATION

Representations, Theory, and Practice

EDITED BY LINDY A. ORTHIA, TARA ROBERSON

A book on queer themes and science communication is timely, if not well overdue.

LGBTIQ+ people have unique contributions to make and issues to meet through science communication. So, bringing 'queer' and 'science communication' together is an important step for queer protest, liberation, and visibility.

This collection examines the place of queer people within science communication and asks what it means for the field to 'queer' science communication practice, theory and research agendas.

Written by leading names in the field, it offers concrete examples for academics, students and practitioners who strive to foster radical inclusivity and equity in science communication.

‘THE INDUSTRIALIZED DESIGNER’

Gender, identity and professionalization in Britain and the United States, 1930-80
LEAH ARMSTRONG

What does it mean to be called an industrial designer?

This book traces the remarkable rise of this professional identity in historical perspective from a position of anonymity in the early twentieth century, to mid-century professionalisation, to decline and disintegration by 1980.

Drawing on new, extensive, original archival research, it uncovers the history of a profession in a state of re-invention, 1930-1980 in Britain and the United States. The book tests assumptions about the relationship between the professions in the two countries, bringing them into comparative historical perspective for the first time.

BELFAST PUNK AND THE TROUBLES: AN ORAL HISTORY

FEARGHUS ROULSTON

Belfast punk and the Troubles is an oral history of the punk scene in Belfast from the mid-1970s to the mid-80s.

The book explores what it was like to be a punk in a city shaped by the violence of the Troubles, and how this differed from being a punk elsewhere. It also asks what it means to have been a punk – how punk unravels as a thread throughout the lives of the people interviewed, and what that unravelling means in the context of post-peace-process Northern Ireland. In doing so, it suggests a critical understanding of sectarianism, subjectivity and memory politics in the province, and argues for the importance of placing punk within the segregated structures of everyday life described by the interviewees.

EDITED BY NEIL STOREY

The Island Book of Records Volume 2 documents the years 1969-70, during which Island sought to build on its success with the Spencer Davis Group by seeking out new British rock talent.

By the end of the period, Island was emerging as a major British label, one that could boast releases from Jethro Tull, Nick Drake, King Crimson, John and Beverley Martyn, Fairport Convention and Cat Stevens.

Featuring material from recent interviews and from media interviews of the time, and including a comprehensive discography of 45s, The Island Book of Records Volume 2 is lavishly illustrated with gig adverts (very many at venues that no longer exist), concert tickets, flyers, international LP variants, labels, LP and 45 adverts and other ephemera collector’s dream.

GEOFFREY HILL AND THE ENDS OF POETRY

TOM DOCHERTY

The idea of the end is an essential motivic force in the poetry of Geoffrey Hill (1932-2016).

This book shows that Hill's poems are characteristically 'end-directed'. They tend towards consummations of all kinds: from the marriages of meanings in puns, or of words in repeating figures and rhymes, to syntactical and formal finalities. The recognition of failure to reach such ends provides its own impetus to Hill's poetry.

This is the first book on Hill to take account of his last works. It is a significant contribution to the study of Hill's poems, offering a new thematic reading of his entire body of work. By using Hill's work as an example, the book also touches on questions of poetry's ultimate value: what are its ends and where does it wish to end up?

SPECULATIVE WHITENESS

Science Fiction and the Alt-Right

JORDAN S. CARROLL

Reveals the alt-right's project to claim science fiction and – by extension – the future.

Fascists such as Richard Spencer interpret science fiction films and literature as saying only white men have the imagination required to invent a high-tech future. Other white nationalists envision racist utopias filled with Aryan supermen and all-white space colonies. Speculative Whiteness traces these ideas through the entangled histories of science fiction culture and white supremacist politics, showing that debates about representation in science fiction films and literature are struggles over who has the right to imagine and inhabit the future. Although fascists insist that tomorrow belongs to them, they have always been and will continue to be contested by antifascist fans willing to fight for the future.

WOMEN AND MADNESS IN THE EARLY ROMANTIC NOVEL

Injured minds, ruined lives

This book argues that these early Romantic-period novelists revised medical and popular sentimental models for female madness that made inherent female weakness and the aberrant female body responsible for women's mental afflictions.

WALKING IN THE DARK

James Baldwin, my father and me

DOUGLAS FIELD

A moving exploration of the life and work of the celebrated American writer, blending biography and memoir with literary criticism.

Since James Baldwin's death in 1987, his writing – including The Fire Next Time, one of the manifestoes of the Civil Rights Movement, and Giovanni's Room, a pioneering work of gay fiction – has only grown in relevance.

Douglas Field was introduced to Baldwin's essays and novels by his father, who witnessed the writer's debate with William F. Buckley at Cambridge University in 1965. In Walking in the dark, he embarks on a journey to unravel his life-long fascination and to understand why Baldwin continues to enthrall us decades after his death.

SELF-PRESENTATION AND REPRESENTATIVE POLITICS

Essays in Context, 1960-2020
DEREK ROBBINS

Through six articles written at intervals of about a decade between 1960 and 2020, the book provides an account of the author's developing political awareness during the period in the context of political events and changes.

In this way the book illustrates the social origins of political attitudes, while, at the same time, the articles raise questions about the increasing dominance of political discourse in society. The book suggests that politics is now excessively managed by political professionals and that the challenge for reviving democratic participation is to restore the social dimension of state membership.

ANARCHISM AND EUGENICS

An unlikely convergence, 1890-1940

RICHARD CLEMINSON, SERIES EDITED BY URI GORDON, LAURENCE DAVIS, ALEX PRICHARD, NATHAN JUN

At the heart of this book is what would appear to be a striking and fundamental paradox: the espousal of a 'scientific' doctrine that sought to eliminate 'dysgenics' and champion the 'fit' as a means of 'race' survival by a political and social movement that ostensibly believed in the destruction of the state and the removal of all hierarchical relationships.

What explains this reception of eugenics by anarchists? How was eugenics mobilised by anarchists as part of their struggle against capitalism and the state? What were the consequences of this overlap for both anarchism and eugenics as transnational movements?

THE KINDNESS FIX

How and why we must build a more compassionate society
JASON WOOD

If a measure of our humanity is how we treat the most vulnerable, our report card is bleak.

Our politics is divided, people in need are too often treated with cruelty, and the systems we built to support others are creaking. Welfare too often fails, sometimes with tragic consequences.

Yet, the help we give to others can be more effective, more accepted, and more just if we cultivate greater levels of compassion to put it at the heart of public life and potentially resolve these challenges. In this book, Jason Wood reviews the research and talks to experts from across the world to make the moving case for greater compassion in public life.

SOCIAL MURDER?

Austerity and Life Expectancy in the UK

Life expectancy is about more than just health – it’s about the kind of society we live in. And in the early 2010s, after decades of continual improvement, life expectancy in the UK, USA and many other rich countries stopped increasing.

For millions of people it actually declined. Despite hundreds of thousands of extra deaths, governments and officials remained silent.

Combining robust evidence with real-life stories, this book tells the story of how austerity policies caused this scandal. It argues that this shocking and tragic suffering was predictable, caused by a dereliction of duty from those in power.

RETHINKING FINANCIAL BEHAVIOUR

Rationality and Resistance in the Financialization of Everyday Life

ARIANE AGUNSOYE

Pension policy in the UK and US is designed on the assumption that people can make informed financial decisions, can consistently invest in pensions and manage diverse portfolios.

Deviating from this is often deemed irresponsible and irrational. However, this assumption overlooks uncontrollable factors like caring duties, employment breaks or income limitations. Even when individuals act as expected, unpredictable market shifts can hinder long-term planning.

This book redefines deviations to ‘rational behaviour’ as logical responses to a dysfunctional system. Challenging existing theoretical discussions and policy approaches, it proposes a fresh perspective on rationality when it comes to financial policy and practices.

How Economists Forgot the Real World and Led Us Astray
NAT DYER

From the workings of financial markets to our response to the ecological crisis, economic theory shapes the world. But where do these ideas come from?

Ricardo’s Dream tells the fascinating story of David Ricardo, Adam Smith’s only real rival as the ‘founder of economics’: The wealthiest stock trader of his day, Ricardo introduced the study of abstract models to economics. He also developed the theory of trade that underpinned globalisation and hides, behind its mathematical façade, a history of power, empire and slavery.

Brimming with fresh ideas and stories, Ricardo’s Dream shows how too many economists, from Ricardo’s day to our own, have turned away from observing the real world and led us astray.

OTHER PUBLIC SAFETY
PERSONNEL WITH THE MMPI-3

A Practical Guide
YOSSEF S. BEN-PORATH,
DAVID M. COREY

A hands-on guide for using the MMPI-3 when assessing suitability and fitness for duty of public safety personnel.

Factors unique to police and public safety candidate selection require adjustments to standard guidelines when interpreting MMPI-3 scores. David M. Corey and Yossef S. Ben-Porath’s latest work broadly focuses on use of the MMPI-3 in both prehire suitability evaluations and posthire fitness-for-duty evaluations of individuals in public safety occupations.

This practical guide was written for clinicians who conduct evaluations of incumbent public safety personnel as well as candidates for law enforcement, correctional, firefighter/medic, or emergency dispatcher positions. 9781517912635 | December 2024 | University of Minnesota Press | HB | 496pp | 254x178mm | AU $110.00 | NZ $125.00 | THEMA: MKM: Clinical psychology | DISC: RFB FIRM SALE

ANTI-RACISM IN BRITAIN

Traditions, histories and trajectories, 1880-present
 EDITED BY SAFFRON EAST, GRACE REDHEAD, THEO WILLIAMS

Concepts of ‘race’ and racism are central to British history. They have shaped, and been shaped by, British identities, economies and societies for centuries, from colonialism and enslavement to the ‘hostile environment’ of the 2010s.

Yet state and societal racism has always been met with resistance. This edited volume collects the latest research on anti-racist action in Britain, and makes the case for a multifaceted, historically contingent ‘tradition’ of British anti-racism shaped by local, national and transnational contexts, networks and movements.

INSTRUMENTS OF INTERNATIONAL ORDER

Internationalism and diplomacy, 1900-50
 EDITED BY THOMAS W. BOTTELLIER, JAN STÖCKMANN

During the first half of the twentieth century, world politics was reshaped in pursuit of a new international order.

The ideological foundations of the ‘new diplomacy’ (and its fate during the interwar period) are well known. This book instead examines the practices of internationalism and diplomacy from the First Hague Conference of 1899 to the aftermath of the Second World War. By focusing on these practices, such as disarmament regimes or public diplomacy, and their use as instruments to build international order(s), it emphasises the constructed, contested, and experimental character of what subsequently became a standard repertoire of international politics.

TECHNOLOGY, HEALTH AND THE PATIENT CONSUMER IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

EDITED BY RACHEL ELDER, THOMAS SCHLICH

Technology and consumerism are two characteristic phenomena in the history of medicine and healthcare, yet the connections between them are rarely explored by scholars.

In this edited volume, the authors address this disconnect, noting the ways in which a variety of technologies have shaped patients’ roles as consumers since the early twentieth century. Chapters examine key issues, such as the changing nature of patient information and choice, patients’ assessment of risk and reward, and matters of patient role and of patient demand as they relate to new and changing technologies.

PULCINELLA’S BROOD

Popular Culture in the Enlightenment

KAREN T. RAIZEN

Pulcinella, a Neapolitan clown born of the commedia dell’arte tradition, went viral in Europe in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

He was an unlikely hero, grotesque in his mannerisms, with a bulging belly, occasional hunchback, and an insatiable desire for macaroni. Still, this bulbous misfit took his place next to kings, caliphs, and intellectual heavyweights.

Pulcinella’s Brood traces the transnational arc of the Enlightenment-era Pulcinella, from his native Naples to Paris, from Rome to London. The book explores how Pulcinella was inserted into discourses about social order, aesthetics, and politics – how he became a revolutionary, a critic of the Catholic Church, and a champion of education.

GOTHIC ITALY

Crime, Science, and Literature after Unification, 1861-1914
STEFANO SERAFINI

The Gothic, proliferating across different literary, socio-cultural, and scientific spaces, permeated and influenced the project of Italian nation-building, casting a dark and pervasive shadow on Italian history.

Gothic Italy explores the nuances, contradictions, and implications of the conflict between what the Gothic embodies in post-unification Italy and the values that a supposedly secular, modern country tries to uphold and promote.

The book analyses a variety of literary works concerned with crime that tapped into fears relating to contagion, race, and class fluidity; deviant minds and abnormal sexuality; female transgression; male performativity; and the instability of the new body politic.

CAPITALISM IN THE COLONIES

African Merchants in Lagos, 1851-1921
A. G. HOPKINS

An account that challenges the conventional views of African merchants under colonialism, examining the emergence and changing fortunes of indigenous entrepreneurs in Lagos, Nigeria.

In Capitalism in the Colonies, A. G. Hopkins provides the first substantial assessment of the fortunes of African entrepreneurs under colonial rule. Examining the lives and careers of 100 merchants in Lagos, Nigeria, between 1850 and 1931, Hopkins challenges conventional views of the contribution made by indigenous entrepreneurs to the long-run economic development of Nigeria. He argues that African merchants in Lagos not only survived, but were also responsible for key innovations in trade, construction, farming, and finance that are essential for understanding the development of Nigeria's economy.

IRELAND IN CRISIS

War, politics and religion, 1641-50
EDITED BY PATRICK LITTLE

The crisis that befell Ireland in the 1640s has always fascinated historians.

This volume of essays presents cutting-edge research on various aspects of the Irish wars, notably regionalism, the nature of English interventions, popular politics and the problems of allegiance, authority and legitimacy in church and state. The chapters include studies of the earl of Cork in Munster, the earl of Clanricarde in Connacht and Lord Montgomery in Ulster, as well as the Confederate Catholic engagement with popular politics. The role of the marquess of Ormond, the Irish Parliament and the Church of Ireland are also examined in new ways, and the volume ends with a fresh look at the war of words between Oliver Cromwell and the Catholic Church.

OTHER EVERESTS

One mountain, many worlds
EDITED BY PAUL GILCHRIST, PETER HANSEN, JONATHAN WESTAWAY

A hundred years after the tragic 1924 British Everest expedition, this collection explores the wider social and cultural history of the mountain.

Mount Everest looms large in the popular imagination. Since the deaths of mountaineers George Mallory and Andrew Irvine in 1924, histories of the mountain have overwhelmingly focused on the mythologies of western male adventure and conquest. But there are many more stories waiting to be told.

Other Everests brings together new voices and perspectives on the historical and cultural significance of Everest in the modern world.

QUEER BEYOND LONDON

LGBTQ stories from four English cities
MATT COOK, PROFESSOR ALISON ORAM

An alternative celebration of LGBTQ history in Britain, offering tales of queer life from four cities.

When it comes to queer British history, London has stolen the limelight. But what about the millions of queer lives lived elsewhere?

In Queer beyond London, two leading LGBTQ historians take you on a journey through four English cities from the sixties to the noughties, exploring the northern post-industrial heartlands and taking in the salty air of the seaside cities of the south.

THE ABCS OF COLD WAR HISTORY

Anglo-America, Bloc Sovietique, China, 1919-1994
BRUCE A. ELLEMAN

A short, but highly relevant, history of the Cold War, 1919-1994, and its significance today.

The 75-year Cold War pitted the Anglo-American world against the Soviet Bloc, with China, the ultimate prize.

From 1979 to 1994, the U.S. government attempted to use its relations with China to exert diplomatic, economic, and military pressure on the USSR. Beginning in the late 1970s and continuing through the 1980s, China began to import high-technology equipment from the United States to fill key sensor and weapon role.

THE RISE OF GLOBAL ISLAMOPHOBIA IN THE WAR ON TERROR

Coloniality, race, and Islam
EDITED BY NAVED BAKALI, FARID HAFEZ

The 'War on Terror' ushered in a new era of anti-Muslim bias and racism. Anti-Muslim racism, or Islamophobia, is influenced by local economies, power structures and histories.

However, the War on Terror, a conflict undefined by time and place, with a homogenised Muslim 'Other' framed as a perpetual enemy, has contributed towards a global Islamophobic narrative.

This edited international volume examines the connections between interpersonal and institutional anti-Muslim racism that have contributed to the growth and emboldening of nativist and populist protest movements globally.

SCIENCE SOCIETIES

Resources for Life in a Technoscientific World
SARAH R. DAVIES

What role do science and technology play in society? What is the nature of expert knowledge? What is science's relation to democracy?

This introduction to science, technology, and society answers these questions, and more, by exploring contemporary research on topics such as expertise, activism, science policy, and innovation. It offers a comprehensive resource for considering the place that science and technology have in contemporary societies, and the roles that they can and should play.

Accessible to a non-specialist audience, it draws on a rich range of cases and examples, from nuclear activism in India to content moderation in Kenya.

BEHIND THE SCIENCE

The Invisible Work of Data Management in Big Science
KATHERINE HARRISON

Some of the largest quantities of data produced today occur as the result of experiments taking place at Big Science facilities.

This book tells the story of a unique research journey following the people responsible for designing and implementing data management at a new Big Science facility, the European Spallation Source (ESS) in Lund, Sweden. It critically examines the idea of data as an absolute ‘truth’ and sheds light on the often underestimated, yet essential, contributions of these data experts.

Providing a unique glimpse into the inner workings of Big Science, this book fills an important gap in science and technology studies and critical data studies.

STATISTICAL MECHANICS IN A NUTSHELL, SECOND EDITION

LUCA PELITI, FOREWORD BY ANTHONY ZEE

The essential introduction to modern statistical mechanics – now completely updated and expanded.

Statistical mechanics is one of the most exciting areas of physics today and has applications to subjects ranging from economics and social behavior to algorithmic theory and evolutionary biology. Statistical Mechanics in a Nutshell provides a self-contained introduction to this rapidly developing field. Starting with the basics of kinetic theory and requiring only a background in elementary calculus and mechanics, this concise book discusses the most important developments of recent decades and guides readers to the very threshold of today’s cutting-edge research.

LOGOS AND LIFE

Essays on Mind, Action, Language and Ethics
ROGER TEICHMANN

The essays in Logos and Life, mainly dating from 2014 and later, cover topics in philosophy of mind, philosophy of action, ethics and philosophy of language.

There are numerous strands connecting these four areas, which Roger Teichmann highlights: in this sense the collection exhibits thematic unity as well as diversity.

Several of the essays take as their starting points the ideas and philosophical methods of Wittgenstein and of Elizabeth Anscombe, and so will be of interest to anyone studying those philosophers. A newly written Introduction serves to indicate the main themes and arguments of the book, and provides an overall statement of Teichmann’s philosophy.

CHAOS AND THE AUTOMATON

FRANCO ‘BIFO’ BERARDI

Facing real threats of extinction and futurelessness, a search for new ground on which to build projects toward emancipation.

Chaos and the Automaton is the first volume to collect Franco ‘Bifo’ Berardi’s extensive collaboration with e-flux, which has become one of his primary English-language publishers since 2010. The selection of key essays collected here presents Berardi’s prescient interventions into more than a decade of social turmoil, offering a tour through the cataclysms that have rocked the foundations of the global order since the 2008 financial crisis, from European austerity, Occupy, the Arab Spring, and Anonymous through the ascendance of Pope Francis, Brexit, Covid-19, the Trump-Biden sequence, the U.S. Capitol riots, and the Russian invasion of Ukraine – as well as bizarre new cultural occurrences that were consequences.

ISLAMIC LEADERSHIP AND THE STATE IN EURASIA

GALINA M. YEMELIANOVA

The book presents the first integrated study of the relationship between official Islamic leadership (muftiship), non-official Islamic authorities, grassroots Muslim communities and the state in post-Communist Eurasia, encompassing Lithuania, Belarus, Ukraine, the Volga-Urals, Crimea, the North Caucasus, Azerbaijan and ex-Soviet Central Asia.

It employs a history-based perspective and compares this relationship to that in both the Middle East and Western Europe. It argues that the nature and role of official Islamic leadership, as well as state-Muslim relations in most of the post-Soviet lands, have largely retained their particular national and broader Eurasian character, which distinguishes them from what prevails in the Middle East and Western Europe.

DEEPWATER ALCHEMY

Extractive Mediation and the Taming of the Seafloor

LISA YIN HAN

How underwater mediation has transformed deep-sea spaces into resource-rich frontiers.

Green energy technologies such as windmills, solar panels, and electric vehicles may soon depend on material found at the seabed. How did a space once imagined to be empty and unfathomable come to be thought of as a treasure trove of resources? Lisa Yin Han traces how contemporary developments in underwater sensing and imaging materially and imaginatively transmogrify the ocean bottom into a resource frontier capable of sustaining a digitally connected global future.

Set against the backdrop of climate change, energy transition, and the expansion of industrial offshore extractions, Deepwater Alchemy looks at oceanic media and its representation of the seabed in terms of valuable resources.

THE RENEWAL OF POST-WAR MANCHESTER

Planning, architecture and the state

RICHARD BROOK

Urban renewal in Britain was thrilling in its total visions, yet partial and incomplete in its implementation.

For the first time, this deep study of a renewal city shows the complex networks of actors and agents affecting physical change, and stagnation, in post-war Britain. Taking a holistic view using the nested geographic scales of the region, the city and case study sites, this title explores the relationships between the tiers of Whitehall legislation, its interpretation by local government planning officers and the on-the-ground impact through urban architectural projects.

CONTROVERSIAL ENCOUNTERS IN THE AGE OF ALGORITHMS

How Digital Technologies are Stifling Public Debate and What to Do About It

SINE N. JUST

How can we have meaningful public conversations in the algorithmic age?

This book explores how digital technologies shape our opinions and interactions, often in ways that limit our exposure to diverse perspectives and fuel polarisation. Drawing on the ancient art of arguing all sides of a case, the book offers a way to revive public debate as a source of trust and legitimacy in democratic societies.

This is a timely and urgent book for anyone who cares about the future of democracy in the digital era.

PLATFORM POLITICS

Corporate Power, Grassroots Movements and the Sharing Economy

LUKE YATES

The platform economy, powered by companies like Airbnb, Uber and Deliveroo, promised to revolutionise the way we work and live. But what are the actual benefits to our society and economy?

This book interrogates the ‘sharing economy’, showing how platform capitalism is not only shaped by business decisions, but is a result of struggles involving social movements, consumer politics and state interventions. It focuses in particular on the controversial tactics used by platform giants to avoid regulation.

Drawing on cutting-edge research and analysis, this book provides a critical overview of this important topic, and imagines the different possible futures of the platform economy.

FROM CAPITAL TO COMMONS

Exploring the Promise of a World beyond Capitalism

HANNES GERHARDT

In this stimulating analysis, Hannes Gerhardt outlines the potentials and challenges of a technology-enabled, commons-focused transition out of capitalism.

The book shows that openness and cooperation are more beneficial in today’s economies and societies than competition and profit-seeking. Driven by this conviction, Gerhardt identifies key imperatives for overcoming capitalism, from democratising our digital, material, and financial economies to maintaining a robust, political mobilisation. Using clear examples, he explores tactical openings through the lens of ‘compeerism’, a newly constructed framework that highlights the latent counter-capitalist possibilities, but also limits, of our emerging technological landscape.
