QUEEN MACBETH

Darkland Tales

VAL MCDERMID

- Val McDermid is a No.1 Sunday Times bestselling author and she has sold over 4 million copies (Bookscan)
- Val McDermid plunges into medieval Scotland to take the reader on a journey of discovery, uncovering the real Lady MacBeth
- Fifth book in the hugely successful and critically acclaimed Darkland Tales series from Polygon
- The previous titles in the series now have combined UK print sales of 40,000 copies
- A propulsive and dynamic retelling that excavates the real character behind Shakespeare's infamous femme fatale

A thousand years ago in an ancient Scottish landscape, a woman is on the run with her three bosom companions – a healer, a weaver and a seer. If the men hunting her find them, they will kill her because she is the only one who stands between them and their violent ambition. She is no lady: she is the first queen of Scotland, married to a king called Macbeth.

Shakespeare fed us the myth of the Macbeths as power-hungry murderous conspirators. But now Val McDermid drags the truth out of the shadows, exposing the patriarchal prejudices of history.

As the net closes in on the queen, we discover a tale of passion, forced marriage, bloody massacre and the harsh realities of medieval Scotland. At the heart of it, one strong charismatic woman who survived loss and jeopardy to finally outwit the endless plotting of a string of ruthless and ambitious men. Her struggle won her a country. But now it could cost her life.

- Smart contemporary riffs on classic tropes, perfect for genre-savvy readers looking for fresh takes on much-loved tropes
- Offers a sharp, and positive view on toxic masculinity and helping people to be better
- Accessible, familiar and warm-hearted characters navigating classic fantasy settings. What would YOU do if you were caught in a dark ritual?
- Caitlin has a growing profile from her short fiction publishing, Pushcart and Lumina award nominations and more

A sharp-witted, high fantasy farce featuring killer moat squid, toxic masculinity, evil wizards and a garlic festival — all at once.

It's bad enough waking up in a half-destroyed evil wizard's workshop with no eyebrows, no memories, and no idea how long you have before the Dread Lord Whomever shows up to murder you horribly and then turn your skull into a goblet or something.

It's a lot worse when you realise that Dread Lord Whomever is...you.

Gav isn't really sure how he ended up with a castle full of goblins, or why he has a princess locked in a cell. All he can do is play along with his own evil plan in hopes of getting his memories back before he gets himself killed. But as he realises that nothing — from the incredibly tasteless cloak adorned with flames to the aforementioned princess — is quite what it seems, Gav must face up to all the things the Dread Lord Gavrax has done. And he'll have to answer the hardest question of all — who does he want to be? A high fantasy farce featuring killer moat squid, toxic masculinity, an evil wizard convocation, and a garlic festival. All at once. Dread Lord Gavrax has had better weeks.

‘It was very kind of Caitlin Rozakis to write this book for me. Sure, the rest of you should like it too, but it was clearly written for me, with all the elements I love: fun and humour, breaking fantasy tropes, interesting and complex questions about identity and redemption, and some delightful goblins!’ — Jim C. Invasion of the Bodysnatchers meets Tell Me I'm Worthless in this relentless and visceral horror about a group of queer kids trying to survive the conversion camp from hell, from the author of the critically-acclaimed Manhunt.

Camp Resolution, surrounded by hundreds of miles of Utah desert. A place to help boys and girls stay on the straight and narrow, where they can learn the value of a hard day's work, get a decent education and where indiscretions can be beaten out of them on a whim. For Shelby, a young trans woman struggling to find her place in the world, Camp Resolution represents everything she has spent her life trying to escape. But Camp Resolution is not all it seems. The lessons they are all taught make no sense, and the counsellors act odd, even for camp counsellors. At night, Shelby can hear a voice speaking to her over the mountains, and soon, the residents of the camp discover its terrible secret. To stay alive and escape, the residents of the camp must learn to trust one another — but that is a difficult thing when there are cuckoos in the nest, hungry and out for blood.

Mal's life is over. Her afterlife is only just beginning...

By turns irreverently funny and deeply moving, this debut contemporary fantasy is perfect for fans of They Both Die at the End and The Invisible Life of Addie LaRue. Mal Caldera — former rockstar, retired wild-child and excommunicated black sheep of her Catholic family — is dead. Not that she cares. She only feels bad that her younger sister, Cris, has been left alone with their religious zealot of a mother, picking up the pieces Mal has left behind. While her fellow ghosts party their afterlives away at an abandoned mansion they call the Haunt, Mal is determined to make contact with Cris from beyond the grave. She manages enlists the help of reluctant local medium Ren, and together, they concoct a plan to pass on a message to Cris. But the more time they spend together, the more both begin to wonder what might have been if they'd met before Mal died. Mal knows it's wrong to hold on so tightly to her old life. Bad things happen to ghosts who interfere with the living, and Mal can't help wondering if she's hurting the people she loves by hanging around, haunting their lives. But Mal has always been selfish, and letting go might just be the hardest thing she's ever had to do...

Funny, emotional and life-affirming, The Afterlife of Mal Caldera will have readers laughing one minute and sobbing the next.

Stories

KATHLEEN JENNINGS

- First collection by an author deeply versed in fantastic literature
- Fairy tales and folk tales of our times
- Has built up an audience with short stories and illustration work

A fabulous debut of folk tales and fantasies by an award winning author and illustrator.

Small fires start in the hearts of Kathleen Jennings's characters and irresistibly spread to those around them. Journeys are taken, debts repaid, disguises put on, and lessons offered — although not often learned — in these fantastic tales. Jennings's confident voice lulls readers into stepping off the known paths to find 'Undine Love', 'The Heart of Owl Abbas', and further unexpected places and people.

Praise for Kathleen Jennings:

'A darkly enchanting and unexpected tale. A gothic Alice in Wonderland meets Picnic at Hanging Rock. With Flyaway Jennings takes old threads and weaves them into something new and exciting.' — Angela Slatter

'In spellbinding, lyrical prose Jennings lulls readers into this rich, dreamlike world. Lovers of contemporary fairy tales will find this a masterful work.' — Publishers Weekly, starred review

About the author:

Kathleen Jennings is an illustrator and writer based in Brisbane, Australia. As an illustrator, she has received the World Fantasy and Ditmar awards and has been shortlisted for the Hugo and Locus awards. As a writer, she has won a British Fantasy and Ditmar awards and has been shortlisted for World Fantasy, the Courier-Mail People's Choice Book of the Year Award, the Crawford, and Aurealis awards.

THE DIRECTOR AND THE DAEMON

PITAYA CHIN

- Exciting new novel from the writer of Revenge, shortlisted for the Stella Prize
- A prescient vision of the becoming zeitgeist
- An unflinching exploration of the paradoxes of art, action and belonging

The Director and the Daemon follows the director of a big budget Australian sci-fi TV show grappling with the dilemma of corporate sponsorship, and their infatuation with their beautiful but selfish lead star, Kit; and an unnamed young radical struggling to find themselves as their political movement — and the found family derived from it — implodes around them. The two characters' worlds become increasingly interconnected as they're forced to make big decisions, and take action, in the face of civil unrest.

The Director and the Daemon is a character-driven novel of ideas that is beautiful, funny, provocative, and deeply felt. It pokes fun at the arts industry, even as it values creativity and art-making, while asking difficult questions about action without ideology and ideology without action. It challenges all of us to think about how we can move from passivity to change, especially in the face of climate change.

R.E.GENERATION

MICHAEL PREWER

- R.E.Generation* explores one possible future where the climate crisis has almost won. But Sarah and her friends have other ideas

After 50,000 years in a chemically induced sleep, Sarah and her fellow R.E.Generation volunteers awake to find a world devoid of human life. Climate change has wiped all mammalian life from the planet surface, and pine trees and giant mushrooms have taken over.

Can they stave off bitter infighting and a hostile earth to build a strong settlement in this strange new world? They are humanity’s last chance of survival, but in the ongoing battle between humankind and the Earth, who wins?

‘Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it.’

R.E.Generation presents a near future where humanity is succumbing to the ravages of a changing climate and a reproductive blight, and a distant future where a few volunteers struggle to survive on a reborn earth. Can they remember the lessons of the past and create a better society capable of repopulating the earth, or will human greed, selfishness and conflict bring the whole experiment down.

SONG IN THE GRASS

KATE FAGAN

- New collection by prize-winning singer, songwriter and poet

Song in the Grass is Kate Fagan's most personal collection to date. Each of its five sequences moves out in a widening circle from where the poet is standing in life. The collection is an almanac of significant changes; in particular, new lives begun in the Blue Mountains during a transfiguring time of parenthood, against a backdrop of climate uncertainty.

A precise language of environmental observation is braided into stories of family and kin networks. Careful descriptions of place anchor this collection in ecological watchfulness. Birds are sentinel to environmental change, and symbols of spiritual transformation. Song in the Grass includes over sixty different species of endemic or migratory Australian birds.

Archival practices of all kinds — what one poem describes as 'a lyrical index' — offer touchstones for this sonically rich collection, in which poetry becomes a way of sustaining love over distance, a collective music, and a compass for navigating in-common emergencies.

ALONE

BEVERLEY FARMER

- A new edition of Beverley Farmer's classic 1980 debut, out of print for many years. Alone captures the emergence of one of Australia's most powerful and distinctive writers

Set in Melbourne in the late 1950s, and taking place over the course of two days and nights, Alone chronicles the feelings of obsession and hopelessness, isolation and desire provoked by the ending of an intimate relationship. A young woman, a fledgling writer, recalls her passion for her female lover, who has left her. She is estranged from her family and has dropped out of university, and is contemplating ending her life. As she travels through the night-time streets, industrial areas and boarding houses of a Melbourne fallen into economic depression and cultural malaise, she reflects on the days and months past that have brought her to despair.

Written in a style threaded with gothic motifs, and shadowed by the constant threat of sexual violence, Beverley Farmer's debut novel captures the romantic intensity and ironic reversals of youthful longing. It displays her remarkable capacity for bringing different forms of writing together in a single work, prose and poetry, dialogue and dramatic monologue, as well as her reflections on other writers' work. Based partly on her own experiences, Alone shows the formation of a literary voice in writing that is both heightened and flowing, lyrical and precise.

Praise for Beverley Farmer:

'As she explores the frailty of emotional experience, Farmer places her characters in a luminous domain of elemental sensual experience...' — Cassandra Pybus

'Beverley Farmer's expansive curiosity and regard for microcosmic significance sharpen a reader's attention to all things lived, dreamed, and observed.' — Josephine Rowe

About the author:

Beverley Farmer (1941–2018) was the author of the novels Alone, The Seal Woman, and The House in the Light, which was shortlisted for the Miles Franklin Literary Award, and of four collections of short stories, including Milk, which won the NSW Premier's Award for Fiction. She is also known for the writer's notebook A Body of Water, and The Bone House, a collection of essays on the life of the body and the life of the mind, both published by Giramondo. Her last work of fiction, This Water: Five Tales (Giramondo, 2018), was longlisted for the Stella Prize. In 2009 Farmer received the Patrick White Award for her contribution to Australian Literature.

POTTY MOUTH, POTTY MOUTH
ALEX CREECE, INTRODUCTION BY RAE WHITE

• Available now!

‘Alex Creece’s Potty Mouth, Potty Mouth is a reckless, glorious, grotty revolution. It’s an insubordinate ‘kissyface of cobwebs’ that sticks it to capitalism, heteronormativity and the patriarchy.

Quotably horny and delightfully vulgar, Potty Mouth, Potty Mouth reeks of dirty talk via stream of consciousness slide-worthy DMs. Creece’s words surge with anti-capitalist, anti-authoritarian sentiments.

This book tells us it’s okay to simultaneously desire deviance and defiance, while also wanting to retreat between the lines of poems... and I am glad these poems never washed their mouths out with soap.’ — Rae White

STELLAR ATMOSPHERES
ALICIA SOMETIMES, INTRODUCTION BY ANDREA RASSELL

• Available now!

‘The poems in Sometimes’s collection deftly transcend both spatial scales and time scales. From one line to another we careen across the universe. We fast-forward from the first picosecond of stuff forming in the universe to a Christmas card, millennia later. Her depiction of time and dynamism is visceral — things froth and whizz and quiver in a temporospatial-grammatical practice. We become aware of the minutiae of a life, and of a language, against both vast and infinitesimal phenomena in the universe.

Sometimes has written the celestial subjectively — or is it the subjective celestially? — and smears the lines between the practices of cosmology, poetry, and astrophysics. After reading this collection, it seems to me like poetry is as valid a method of interrogating the universe as any other.’ — Andrea Russell

LIVING TWICE

SYDNEY UNIVERSITY ALUMNI, STAFF AND STUDENTS, FOREWORD
BY SHANKARI CHANDRAN

- Available now!
- Foreword by Shankari Chandran
- This anthology cradles the expressions of life itself: the rollercoaster that is growing up; experiences of loving and of being loved; and the hope we hold for new beginnings

All lives have two things in common: they begin and they end.

But within each life, there are thousands of little openings and little closings, all happening at once. The day you make the decision to move abroad; the moment a relationship comes to a close; the choice that changes the course of life as you know it. Through many twists and turns, from one passion, one person, one experience to the next, we live not just once, not even twice, but as many times as we may wish.

THE FINAL SHROUD

NATHAN BURRAGE

- The final book in The Salt Lines duology

The Holy Land, 1099: Jerusalem has fallen. As the Christian factions vie for power, Godefroi de Bouillon and his companions unearth markers to the Keystone, a mystical artefact with the power to shape history. Yet progress has its price: Godefroi's bodyguard lies gravely wounded; the Arabic cabal guiding Hugues is broken; and the forces of Severity are gathering to claim the Keystone.

France, 1307: Bertrand de Châtillon-sur-Seine was a knight for a single day before fleeing with the mysterious Salome. After a pitched battle that claims most of his brethren, Bertrand agrees to become Salome's new Shroud, binding his fate to hers. A refuge lies across the English Channel, but will they reach it in time? And when will Salome finally reveal her secrets?

The Keystone awaits, but is it meant for mortal hands?

THE HIDDEN KEYSTONE

NATHAN BURRAGE

- Historical fantasy, strong historical research into medieval France and during the crusades in Palestine

July 1099: sweltering in the merciless heat, Godefroi de Bouillon's desperate army finally breach the walls of Jerusalem. Concealed within their ranks are members of a secret fraternity. The Salt Lines seek a mystical artefact called the Keystone, and they're willing to sacrifice everything Godefroi values to possess it: the lives of his closest confidants, the only woman he has ever loved, even his very soul.

October 1307: when Bertrand joined the Brotherhood of the Temple of Solomon, no one anticipated the brutal suppression of the Order that followed. Forced to flee for his life, Bertrand unwittingly becomes the only person who can lay the Keystone to rest. But can he resist its temptations whilst evading the forces of the French throne?

With the veil of secrecy in tatters, truth has become the most dangerous possession of all.

- Labyrinth meets Hadestown: Leah’s guilty wish to free herself from her young brother is hauntingly familiar to the cult fantasy classic
- Longing glances and accidental body contact leads to a steamy fae romance as Leah Jones frees herself from an undeserved shame

Labyrinth meets folk horror in this dark and romantic tale of a lost girl and the shadows that lurk in the forest. Fall under the spell of the Lord of the Wood and uncover the dark past of a village that will go to any lengths to ensure its maidens stay good.

In the small town of Winston, Pennsylvania, they fear the Lord of the Wood almost as much as they fear God. According to legend, ghosts of the nearby forest steal unattended babies, leaving enigmatic tokens of wood and bone in their place. Leah Jones didn’t believe the legend, thinking it just a way to scare the local kids—until her baby brother disappears.

Filled with shame and the weight of the town’s judgment, Leah crosses the river into the Lord of the Wood’s domain to bring her brother back. But the devilish figure who has haunted Winston for generations isn’t what she expects. He tells her she can have her brother back...for a price.

MONSTRILIO

A Novel

GERARDO SÁMAMO CÓRDOVA

- A thought-provoking meditation on grief, acceptance, and the monstrous sides of love and loyalty

Nominated for Best Horror in the 2023 Goodreads Choice Awards

Grieving mother Magos cuts out a piece of her deceased eleven-year-old son Santiago's lung. Acting on fierce maternal instinct and the dubious logic of an old folktale, she nurtures the lung until it gains sentience, growing into the carnivorous little Monstrilio she keeps hidden within the walls of her family's decaying Mexico City estate. Eventually, Monstrilio begins to resemble the Santiago he once was, but his innate impulses — though curbed by his biological and chosen family's communal care — threaten to destroy this fragile second chance at life.

A thought-provoking meditation on grief, acceptance, and the monstrous sides of love and loyalty, Gerardo Sámamo Córdova blends bold imagination and evocative prose with deep emotional rigor. Told in four acts that span the globe from Brooklyn to Berlin, Monstrilio offers, with uncanny clarity, a cathartic and precise portrait of being human.

WELCOME TO FOREVER

NATHAN TAVARES

- Uplifting and thrilling SF that reinvents cyberpunk, filled with heart and optimism, ideal for fans of Tomorrow and Tomorrow and Tomorrow by Gabrielle Zevin, How High We Go in the Dark by Sequoia Nagamatsu and the cult anime series *Evangelion
- Centring refugee and migrant characters, set in a world where humanity strives to work together to solve its problems, offering a hopeful parable for today’s world
- A gay marriage front and centre, delivered with energy and charm. Expect real, tender and flawed lovers and a romance to capture everyone’s heart

Fox is a memory editor — one of the best — gifted with the skill to create real life in the digital world. When he wakes up in Field of Reeds Centre for Memory Reconstruction with no idea how he got there, the therapists tell him he was a victim in a terrorist bombing by Khadija Banks, the pioneer of memory editing technology turned revolutionary. A bombing which shredded the memory archives of all its victims, including his husband Gabe.

Thrust into reconstructions of his memories exploded from the fragments that survived the blast, Fox tries to rebuild his life, his marriage and himself. But he quickly realises his world is changing, unreliable, and echoing around itself over and over.

A STRANGER IN THE CITADEL

TOBIAS BUCKELL

- From the powerful storyteller Tobias Buckell (Crystal Rain, The Tangled Lands), a complex novel of humanity’s passion for writing
- A stubborn outcast librarian and compassionate royal daughter journey to the ends of their world to escape an ancient pact that could result in the demise of the written word
- Will strongly appeal to BIPOC and diverse fantasy audiences, including readers looking for non-traditional, non-European fantasy settings

The life of the youngest musketeer of Ninetha has been one of hard training. But Lilith’s days have also contained many pleasures, the royal privileges of her family’s guardianship of the Cornucopia, a mystical source of limitless bounty. Lilith has never seen a book, and she never expects to encounter one within the safety of the citadel.

When Ishmael, an outcast librarian, shows up outside the Afriq Gate, Lilith saves him from immediate execution by her father’s second-in-command, the zealot Kira. As Lilith’s curiosity draws her to Ishmael, she lets slip her family’s most dangerous secret, sparking a deadly rebellion and an unexpected journey full of stunning revelations.

DOUBLE PROOF

MARTIN STEWART

- Double Proof* is the debut adult crime novel from the highly successful children's and YA novelist Martin Stewart
- Funny, gripping and brilliantly plotted, Double Proof will be enjoyed by readers of James Oswald and Neil Lancaster
- Protagonist Robbie Gould is a brilliant new creation for crime fans who love a twist of the macabre

1964. A hoard of the finest Scotch whisky ever made — the legendary Dalziel Double Proof — goes missing.

2023. Albie, youngest son of the wealthy Dalziel family, vanishes. His desperate mother turns to Robbie Gould, a disgraced reporter with a reputation as a 'psychic crimebuster'.

Broke and unemployed, Gould is in no position to turn down the job. He throws himself into a twisted chain of criminals, bent cops and Japanese gangsters, but when someone fires a shotgun through his door, he realises he doesn't need supernatural powers to see how deadly the situation has become.

- Clara will quickly find a home among readers who enjoy books that revolve around reading, bookselling and literary escapism
- A feel-good book for spring: Clara Reads Proust is witty and charming, dealing in the same kind of French whimsy as Amelie and *Chocolat
- Perfect for fans of Antoine Laurain, Joanne Harris, Nina George, Jean-Paul Didierlaurent and, of course, Proust
- French sales sensation: Clara Reads Proust sold over 30,000 copies in its native France

A tender and witty coming-of-age story about the power of literature to inspire new beginnings, peppered with a cast of quirky characters and a unique heroine.

Clara is a hairdresser at Cindy Coiffure, a sleepy French salon with an identity crisis. Her relationship is fizzling out. Her tanoholic boss Madame Habib worships Jacques Chirac and talks longingly of her days in Paris. And now Madame Lévy-Leroy wants to go blonde. Clara can't help but wonder if there's more to life than this...

Everything changes when a customer leaves behind the first volume of In Search of Lost Time by Marcel Proust. As Clara reads, she discovers a new world. And slowly but surely, she will work out who she wants to be.

THE WIDOWS

PASCAL ENGMAN, TRANSLATED BY NEIL SMITH

- The best-selling Swedish crime novelist of his generation — with over 600,000 books sold in Sweden alone, published in 20 languages and now, with this trilogy, published in English for the first time
- Second in the trilogy after Femicide
- Rights to the Vanessa Frank series have already been sold into 20 languages including German, Spanish and Italian
- Great for scandi crime fans such as Larsson, Roslund & Hellström, Ragnar Jonasson, Jørn Lier Horst and Kepler. Comparison to other authors are Val McDermid, Mark Billingham, Peter James and JD Kirk

In the sequel to Femicide, two bodies are discovered in a Stockholm park, one a policeman and the other an unidentified young woman.

With the police believing the woman to be nothing more than unfortunate collateral damage, they focus on the murder of the police officer. But Detective Vanessa Frank takes a different approach and her investigation turns out to be more personal than she could have imagined.

AN IMAGE IN A MIRROR

IJANGOLET OGWANG

- Ijangolet Ogwang is a Kenyan born Ugandan-South-African writer. Her debut novel An Image in a Mirror was published by Blackbird Books in 2018 and became a national bestseller in South Africa

Set between Uganda and South Africa, An Image in a Mirror is the story of Nyakale and Achen, identical twins pulled apart by their mother’s decision to give one of them away to her sister for a chance at a better life.

At the heart of this beautifully woven tale is a coming-of-age story of two young women growing up in separate worlds that are as different as they are similar.

When the sisters finally meet after twenty-two years, how mirrored will each feel by the other?

A passionate love story, centred on a devastating Russian plot to sabotage the undersea communication cables linking the US to the UK.

Clive Franklin, a Russian language expert in the Foreign Office, is summoned unexpectedly to Moscow to act as translator for the British Prime Minister. His life is turned on its head when, after over a decade, he discovers that his former lover, Marina Volina, is now the interpreter to the Russian President. At the embassy, Clive learns of a Russian plot to cut the undersea cables linking the US to the UK, which would paralyse communications and collapse the Western economy.

Marina stuns Clive with the news that she’s ready to help stop the attack, betraying her country for a new identity and life. Clive becomes the go-between, relaying Marina’s intelligence to MI6 back in London. What are the odds that two lovers, running the Moscow marathon with the FSB on their backs, can save the UK and Western Europe from economic meltdown?

HALO
Epitaph
KELLY GAY

- This novel features the Didact, a key figure and antagonist in Greg Bear’s New York Times bestselling Forerunner Saga trilogy and the game Halo 4, and is one of the most popular characters in Halo lore
- The Halo franchise is now a blockbuster TV series streaming exclusively on Paramount+, produced by Microsoft and Steven Spielberg’s Amblin Entertainment. Season 2 is currently in development
- Halo* recently celebrated its 20-year anniversary as the most recognised sci-fi videogame franchise of all time

An original novel set in the Halo universe — based on the New York Times best-selling video game series.

Stripped of armour and might, the Forerunner warrior known as the Didact was torn free from the physical world following his epic confrontation with the Master Chief, and sent reeling into the mysterious depths of a seemingly endless desert wasteland. His mind ravaged, he has no recollection of who he is or where he came from. This once powerful and terrifying figure is now a shadow of his former self — gaunt, broken, desiccated, and alone. But this wasteland is not as barren as it seems, as a blue light glints from the apex of a thin spire in the far distance...

Collected Stories

ERIC LAROCCA, INTRODUCTION BY CHUCK WENDIG

- Now in paperback!
- A beautifully crafted, devastating short fiction collection from the Bram-Stoker finalist and author of Things Have Gotten Worse Since We Last Spoke and Other Misfortunes
- Brand-new introduction from acclaimed bestselling author Chuck Wendig
- Eric's work has been raved about by Paul Tremblay, Josh Malerman, Hailey Piper, Sadie Hartmann, Stephen Graham Jones, Brian Evenson, Ally Wilkes and many others

Eight stories of literary dark fiction from a master storyteller. Exploring the shadow side of love, these are tales of grief, obsession, control. Intricate examinations of trauma and tragedy in raw, poetic prose. In these narratives, a woman imagines horrific scenarios whilst caring for her infant niece; on-line posts chronicle a cancer diagnosis; a couple in the park with their small child encounter a stranger with horrific consequences; a toxic relationship reaches a terrifying resolution...

Originally published under the title The Strange Thing We Become and Other Dark Tales, this is a much-praised collection of deeply unsettling, painfully dark tales.

Darkland Tales

ALAN WARNER

- Now in paperback!
- The 3rd in the critically acclaimed Darkland Tales series. The previous titles, Rizzio by Denise Mina and Hex by Jenni Fagan, have sold over 25,000 copies
- This novel is intense, layered, dirty, poignant and laugh-out-loud funny, as the reader is immersed in the character of Bonnie Prince Charlie and the language and landscape of the 18th-century Scottish Highlands

* Shortlisted for The Winston Graham Historical Prize ****

A battle lost. A daring escape. A long walk into obscurity. The ultimate failure...

In the aftermath of the disastrous Battle of Culloden, a lonely figure takes flight with a small band of companions through the islands and mountains of the Hebrides. His name is Charles Edward Stuart: better known today as Bonnie Prince Charlie. He had come to the country to take the throne. Now he is leaving in exile and abject defeat.

In prose that is by turns poetic, comic, macabre, haunting and humane, multi-award-winning author Alan Warner traces the frantic last journey through Scotland of a man who history will come to define for his failure.

THE DEVIL'S WALTZ

JESSI ELLIOTT

- Discover what happens when a young woman from a family of demon hunters falls in love with the half-demon prince of hell in this spicy paranormal romance

It's been five years since her sister was killed by a demon and Camille Morgan swore off the family business of demon hunting. Now a college sophomore, Cami is determined to get her degree and move far away from Seattle — and all things paranormal.

But when Cami becomes the target of a demon attack she's convinced is a ploy by her parents to drag her back into training, the wildly charming and attractive Xander Kane comes to her rescue. Except her saviour isn't a hunter. Or even human.

Xander is a demon, the alluring prince of hell, whose magnetic presence leaves Cami both captivated and conflicted, especially when she finds out he plans on using her to destroy the demon hunters once and for all.

Caught between her growing affection for Xander and her loyalty to her family, Cami struggles to make a decision that could shatter her and endanger the lives of those she loves.

YEARS AND YEARS

JUNGEUN HWANG, TRANSLATED BY JANET HONG

- Three women — the old mother and her two daughters — contemplate their family life and their bottled-up feelings through the novel's placating yet oddly unnerving prose
- Fits in with the recent interest in young, female Korea authors, such as Han Kang, Ha Seong-nan, Han Yujoo

Years and Years is divided into four large chapters; the first unravels from the perspective of Sejin, younger daughter, the second from that of Youngjin, older daughter, the third from the mother's, and the fourth, back to Sejin's. Throughout the course of the novel, a number of themes are developed, including its discussion of interracial marriage, different forms of family, and sexual minorities. Circumstances and history forced the mother to the life of obedience, familial obligations and financial hardship forced Youngjin to give up her dream and support the family, and the reality of her culture forced Sejin to be in the closet.

THE DIRT IN OUR SKIN

J. J. ANSELMINI

- The Dirt in Our Skin* is a coming-of-age novel and artistic tribute to an activity that's more lifestyle than sport. A book of blurred lines: between friendship and love, humour and abuse, art and sport, fiction and nonfiction, and much more

When Ryan and Jason discover the destructive beauty of freestyle BMX, it's a definitive before-and-after moment for them.

The two riders gravitate to the freedom and raw aggression of trail riding as a way of coping with their tumultuous home lives: Ryan's domineering father and Jason's father's suicide.

The boys prove themselves within the exclusive East Coast BMX scene. They're drawn deeper into the culture when they fall in with a group of older pros who are part of a subterranean world of bisexuality and sadistic humour. As Ryan and Jason fight to preserve their relationship, they must navigate their own emerging sexuality and feelings for one another.

WHERE THE WIND CALLS HOME

SAMAR YAZBEK, TRANSLATED BY LERI PRICE

- In this new novel by Syria's most prominent writer of the National Book Award Finalist Planet of Clay, a wounded nineteen-year-old soldier in the Syrian Army remembers his life lived in the traditional Alawite way
- Leri Price is an award-winning literary translator of contemporary Arabic fiction

Ali, a nineteen-year-old soldier in the Syrian army, lies on the ground beneath a tree. He sees a body being lowered into a hole — is this his funeral? There was that sudden explosion, wasn't there... While trying to understand the extent of the damage, Ali works his way closer to the tree. His ultimate desire is to fly up to one of its branches, to safety. Through rich vignettes of Ali's memories, we uncover the hardships of his traditional Syrian Alawite village, but also the richness and beauty of its cultural and religious heritage. Yazbek here explores the secrets of the Alawite faith and its relationship to nature and the elements in a tight poetic novel dense with life and hope and love.

SHAKESPEARE'S SONNETS (BARNES & NOBLE COLLECTIBLE CLASSICS: POCKET EDITION)

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

*Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate:
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May
And summer's lease hath all too short a date*

William Shakespeare wrote some of the greatest poetry in all world literature, in compact sonnets bursting with beautiful imagery and timeless insights about love, life, and human nature. This pocket edition makes available to those who love the words of the Immortal Bard all 154 of his exquisite sonnets.

ANNA KARENINA (BARNES & NOBLE COLLECTIBLE CLASSICS: OMNIBUS EDITION)

LEO TOLSTOY

First published in 1878, Leo Tolstoy's Anna Karenina is the tragic story of aristocrat Anna Karenina and her ill-fated affair with the cavalry officer Count Vronsky. Although passionately in love, the couple finds their romance doomed by the sexual mores of their time and place, and the double standards that apply to men and women. The tale's panoramic sweep and Tolstoy's colourful depiction of Russia and the European continent are virtually unparalleled in world literature. This novel, in the estimation of William Faulkner, is 'the best ever written.'

Anna Karenina is one of Barnes & Noble's leatherbound classics. Each volume features authoritative texts by the world's greatest authors in an exquisitely designed bonded leather binding, with distinctive gilt edging and an attractive ribbon bookmark.

EVERYTHING THE DARKNESS EATS

ERIC LARocca

Shortlisted — Superior Achievement in a First Novel

An insidious darkness threatens to devastate a rural New England village when occult forces are conjured and when bigotry is left unrestrained.

After a recent string of disappearances in a small Connecticut town, a grieving widower with a grim secret is drawn into a dangerous ritual of dark magic by a powerful and mysterious older gentleman named Heart Crowley. Meanwhile, a member of local law enforcement tasked with uncovering the culprit responsible for the bizarre disappearances soon begins to learn of a current of unbridled hatred simmering beneath the guise of the town's idyllic community — a hatred that will eventually burst and forever change the lives of those who once found peace in the quiet town of Henley's Edge.

MAEVE FLY

C. J. LEEDE

Shortlisted — Superior Achievement in a First Novel

A provocative, blood-soaked slasher about unsung villainesses — a nightmarish blend of Eric la Rocca meets American Psycho.

By day, Maeve Fly works at the happiest place in the world as every child's favourite ice princess. By the neon night glow of the Sunset Strip, Maeve haunts the dive bars with a drink in one hand and a book in the other, imitating her misanthropic literary heroes. But when Gideon Green — her best friend's brother — moves to town, he awakens something dangerous within her, and the world she knows suddenly shifts beneath her feet. Untethered, Maeve ditches her discontented act and tries on a new persona. A bolder, bloodier one, inspired by the pages of American Psycho. Step aside Patrick Bateman, it's Maeve's turn with the knife.

EDENVILLE

SAM REBELEIN

Shortlisted — Superior Achievement in a First Novel

Goosebumps meets Stephen King at Edenville College, where an aspiring horror novelist takes a teaching job and soon finds a blood-soaked town history, a secret society in the library basement, alternate dimensions and people who might actually be spiders...

When young horror writer Cam Marion is offered a teaching opportunity at a prestigious liberal arts college upstate, his long-time girlfriend Quinn is skeptical. She knows the college is located in Edenville, in infamous Renfield County. The county where people seem to go missing. The county where Quinn's high school best friend was mysteriously killed. Quinn figures the job opportunity is a trap somehow, so she follows Cam upstate to investigate some of the county's mysteries (including her own).

THE SALT GROWS HEAVY

CASSANDRA KHAW

Shortlisted — Superior Achievement in Long Fiction

From USA Today bestselling author Cassandra Khaw comes a razor-sharp and bewitching fairytale of discovering the darkness in the world, and the darkness within oneself.

You may think you know how the fairytale goes: a mermaid comes to shore and weds the prince. But what the fables forget is that mermaids have teeth. And now, her daughters have devoured the kingdom and burned it to ashes.

On the run, the mermaid is joined by a mysterious plague doctor with a darkness of their own. Deep in the eerie, snow-custed forest, the pair stumble upon a village of ageless children who thirst for blood, and the three 'saints' who control them.
